

Musicianary, songwriter and recording artist Wes Coyour

meets life head-on with unique songs dealing with the realities of life, hope and the rekindling of love. From gospel to folk to kick-up-your-heels country, his home-grown lyrics and heartfelt stories remind us of the best life has to offer and how to deal with the worst when it comes our way. Not to worry – there's always a wonderful mix of timeless songs along with the new, including patriotic, holiday, and many more that will have you singing along.

Wes Coyour began his singing career at the age of five in front of the filled pews of his local church. He has been writing songs for the past 30 years, recorded two albums and is currently working on many new songs, recording and video projects.

Traveling around the country, Wes and Dawn, his wife and business manager, share his inspirational music. Frequently joining them on the road is Wes' Mom on keyboards and Dad, the “roadie and reverend” always ready to work, play or pray!

Wes' music is unique in that it fulfills a “commissioning” of sorts, by Grandpa Earl on his deathbed, which inspired both the song and name of our outreach. Years later, Wes realized that his real passion was to share the importance of building lasting relationships, both in the family and in life, that have a positive and meaningful impact on others. Those “others” can be our children, friends, neighbors or strangers. Thus began Remember the Love of the Family, a non-profit 501(c) 3 organization that shares this message through Wes' songs and stories.
